Elvin Birch, aged 25 years, was found dead in bed at the home of W. B. Congleton at Slade Tuesday morning. He was subject, formerly, to epileptic fits, but had had none for one year. It is supposed he died from a hard fit. He leaves a wife married Aug. 26th.

LOST—Gold-headed Hat Pin with initials "M. M." engraved thereon. Lost between Clay City and Vaughn's Mill, Saturday, Sept. 4th. Liberal reward for return to me at Vaughn's Mill. Mrs. Morgan McKinney.

WILLSON FOR GOOD ROADS.

Gov. Willson is in favor of good roads, consequently favors the adoption of the constitutional amendment. He has issued the following address to the people of Kentucky:

To the people of Kentucky: At the request of the Kentucky Good Roads Association, and because I feel the deepest interest in the good roads movement, and I think it is my duty as Governor to help and ask everybody else to help the movement, I invite all of our people to come to the meeting under the auspices of the Kentucky Good Roads Association, to be held at the Kentucky State Fair grounds Thursday, September 16, 1909, and I earnestly hope that everybody who is interested in the good roads question and can attend, will attend and take an earnest and active interest in the movement, and all fiscal courts, commercial organizations, cities, counties and towns are requested to appoint delegates to this meeting for the purpose of organizing the various counties in the interest of the movement, in order to bring out the full strength to vote for the constitutional amendment at the November election.

The Commissioner of Agriculture, M. C. Rankin, has offered a prize of $100 on "How to Finance, Complete and Maintain Good Roads," also upon "The Necessity of the Adoption of the Good Roads Amendment."

The good roads we have in Kentucky are the best possible argument for the good roads that we have not. If a man travels over a good road and has to come back over a bad road, it hurts him every turn of the wheels.

It is true it takes money to build good roads, but you more than get your money back. If a man has good land and no fences, it takes money to build the fences, but he gets his money back, because the fences protect the farm and make it worth as much more as the fences cost. It costs money to build a suitable barn for a farmer who knows what he needs, but he gets his money back in the use of the barn; it costs money to build a suitable house to live in, but he gets his money back in the use of the house. So when it takes money to build a good road to a farm which is worth only $40 an acre on a bad road, the farm becomes worth $60 to $80 an acre as soon as the good road reaches it, so he gets his money back in his land going up in value, and if he does not sell his land, he gets back more than the interest on his money in the decreased expense of getting what he raises to market over the good road instead of over the bad road.

Nobody can fully enjoy self-respect who lives on a bad road any longer than he can help. A bad road makes it hard for him to have his pleasure in living; hard to attend church and school and get back home again; hard to haul his crops to the place where they are to be sold or shipped; hard for his friends to come to see him or for him to go to see them. He won't travel it any more than he can help. No one will, and it puts all his life on a lower scale than it would be if he lived on a good road. I do not write for hermits, but for human beings who believe that they were made for living in communities and for neighbors and friends.

The good roads movement is not a lottery nor a speculation, but there is no lottery in which there is such certainty of drawing a capital prize and no speculation where the profit is half as great. There is no way to lose on a good road that is properly placed. In some States they may build more good roads than it is necessary, but there is not any danger of this in Kentucky at present. There are some parts of the State in which good roads could not be built without some State help. There is no movement for the State to pay the whole expense of any road. Many States have good roads laws and give State help, but usually it is not more than a fifth of the cost, the balance being contributed by the locality, and the roads are built under the supervision of a State engineer, with the requirement that they shall be according to State specifications, which always provide for every substantial, properly graded and durable roads, and the location is made on a public basis instead of for private interests, looking to the places which the road is to pass through, the population to be served, grades, bridges, etc. Such good road laws have proved a very great blessing to every State which has adopted them; they have constantly gained in public favor; the total amount appropriated in any one year is not according to the cloth and not all can be served at once, and there is always a waiting list of communities that need and wish help in building good roads.

And it is greatly to the interest of counties that already have good roads to vote for the amendment for the State to help counties which have not. Every good road adds to the number of customers, the ability of each to buy and the amount of travel in the State. Every good road helps to build up the whole State, and a reasonable expenditure, by reasonable assistance from the State, each year for twenty years, would cover the State with a net work of good roads which would double the value of all the property in this State, quadruple its business and do a great deal to better the condition of everybody in the State—in every part of it.

Many children exile themselves from the farm and the home because the bad roads between the home and places they wish to visit makes it seem almost a prison. If the matter were placed clearly before the minds of every voter in Kentucky the vote in favor of the new movement would be 100 to 1. I hope it will be ample and sufficient to adopt the amendment. I hope that everybody will give this matter serious thought and consider his own situation and the situation in every part of the State and will take an earnest, active part in carrying the amendment, and that all who can will come to the good roads meeting at the fair, whether delegates or not, and gather all the thought and zeal available for the amendment and for good roads.

AUGUSTUS E. WILLSON,
Governor of Kentucky.

Territories Not Admitted.

Are these territories admitted? Did the republican party mean it? Was it not done to get the votes of men who knew these territories had a right to be states? Was it not a case of stealing your votes? And men who will steal your votes will steal your money or your liberties. The reason those territories were not admitted is because the railroads and other corporations did not want it done—for then the people would have some power to rule themselves, while as it is they are ruled and robbed easier than the people in adjoining states where they have some state rights. Congress, being composed of corrupt men, can be handled easily, for they are not dependent on the citizens of territories for their election. Congress is composed of corporation owners and serve only them where they dare. But what do you think about such a flagrant violation of platform pledge? Ask your republican neighbors about it. Make them see the real character of the men they support. The people have been skillfully diverted by a blind play about tariff, which no one can tell whether it made any change or not, and these pledges about vital matters have all been lost sight of. Not one republican in a hundred read the platform and not one in the hundred that did read it has read it since the election to see how it has been carried out. Push it under their noses. Get a copy of it and show the deluded where they are.—Exchange.

A One Man Joy.

Charles F. Aked, Rockefeller's pastor, wants everyone to unite to make the old home happy by rejoicing in his riches. Suppose he means, too, that everybody should unite to make the rest of the people happy by rejoicing in their poverty.

There is one thing about this last panic that ought to be a lesson to the panic makers; it didn't hurt the farmers to any extent. The first thing he did was to call in his loans which were with the banks. Then he reconstructed his expense account on the economy side, was pretty independent so far as funds were concerned and demanded a good price for the products of the farm. The moral of this story is: Don't tackle the farmer when he is loaded, and he proposes to be loaded from now on.

A good farmer can and does produce enough food in a single year to keep his family for ten years. Assuming that the things aside from food cost as much labor, he ought to live in comfort five years for one year's labor. Can he do it? Who gets the balance of his products? Will the farmers who vote the Republican ticket never get wise to the way we, all the common people are being robbed?

Most of the County Road Surveyors are pretty busy just now putting their roads in proper condition for the winter season. Too late in the season to have the best effect, but better late than not at all. Roads worked this late will not get properly packed down by the time freezes and rains come, then they turn to mud.

Dr. John L. Brown, of Shelby county, is in the city. He has decided to locate here and will move his family in our midst in a short time. Dr. Brown comes to us recommended a sober, and christian man, and to all such we extend a hearty welcome.

The fair at Mt. Sterling last week seems to have been the greatest success of any of the fairs held so far in this part of the State. Mt. Sterling never does anything by halves, and is today the best town of its size for business in the State.

Mrs. S. M. Hamman has returned from Danville, Ind. where she has been for some time with her daughter, Mrs. Nannie Weaver. Mrs. Susan Wills, of Ladoga, Ky., a daughter of Mrs. Hamman accompanied the old lady.

G. W. Dunaway, of Vaughn's Mill, will have a public sale of his personal property Thursday, Sept. 16, and move to Missouri. Our best wishes follow George.

Married.

Mr. Charlio Todd and Miss Alta Fox, both of Clark county, were married at the home of the bride's father, B. T. Fox yesterday. The groom is a nephew of P. D. Todd, of this county.

Mr. John A. Wallace, one of Irvine's leading merchants, and Miss Bettie Alexander, of near Irvine were married Sept. 1st. Mr. Wallace has many relatives and friends in Powell who extend congratulations.

The Critical Public.

The man who gets angry about what a newspaper prints of himself should return thanks a dozen times each day for what a newspaper knows of him and does not say. Any fool can find things to print in a newspaper, but it takes a wise newspaper to find things to keep out."

All of which is very true, remarks an exchange. It is generally supposed that newspapers print everything they can find out that is anywhere near fit to print, but that is a mistaken idea.
The average country newspaper refrains from publishing many things that might pass as news because it would reflect on the character or reputation of some individual, and indirectly on his family and the town.

And this reminds us, and we presume other newspapers have noticed it, that if anything happens to get into the paper that does not please some subscriber—and we have known of such cases where the offended person has not and never had been a subscriber—it does not take long for the person to let the editor know all about it. On the other hand, a newspaper may say all kinds of good things about this same person, and throw bouquets promiscuously at others, yet not once in a hundred times will the compliment be noticed or the editor.

This goes to show what people take too much as a matter of course. A newspaper is expected to speak well of everybody, look on the town, and do a lot of hard work for "the good of the cause," for it costs nothing to run a newspaper—so too many seem to think. It is fortunate that most publishers are public spirited citizens. They do much without hope or reward on earth, content if they see good accomplished through their efforts.

A Bar to Citizenship.

On June 16, 1909, a decision was rendered by the Supreme Court of Illinois denying citizenship to a saloon keeper in Illinois because he kept his saloon open on Sunday, contrary to the Criminal Code of that State. The effect of the decision is in substance that a man cannot be a good law-abiding citizen when he is knowingly, wilfully and habitually violating the laws of his State.

We Want The Orphans.

The Highland Orphans Home at Clay City is ready for the orphan girls in the mountains. It is a large three story brick house, beautifully situated at Clay City. It is owned by the Society of Good Willers, and supported by good people everywhere. Orphan girls between the ages of five and thirteen, will be received, if eligible. We hope to take the boys later. Before they are sent, we want to know the name, age, health, character, etc., etc. Only those who have neither father or mother will be received at present. We request all those who have any such children to write to Dr. Edward O. Guernant, Wilmore, Ky. Also will thank all ministers and county officers to give information as to any such children. The Home will clothe, educate and care for these children, for his sake who loves them. There is not a better home in Kentucky. Write at once to Dr. Edward O. Guernant,

Nearly all women suffer at times from female ailments. Some women suffer more acutely and more constantly than others. But whether you have little pain or whether you suffer intensely, you should take Wine of Cardui and get relief.

Cardui is a safe, natural medicine, for women, prepared scientifically from harmless vegetable in-

The Woman's Tonic

Mrs. Verna Wallace, of Sanger, Tex., tried Cardui. She writes: "Cardui has done more for me than I can describe. Last spring I was taken with female inflammation and consulted a doctor, but to no avail, so I took Cardui, and inside of three days, I was able to do my housework. Since then my trouble has never returned." Try it.
